

Iamze Agdgomelashvili, MD, Anesthesiologist.

I want to begin this letter with the words: "I am lucky". Because I had a chance to spend very precious, very interesting and very productive three weeks in Nagasaki University Hospital.

I have been to some European countries' hospitals before, but Japan and Nagasaki covered all my expectations. Of course their professionalism is clear and famous for the whole world, but what I wondered were Japanese people: very sweet, attentive and kind minded people.

As I have already mentioned I stayed there for 3 weeks-I observed liver transplantations and their Anesthesiological aspects. Everybody tried all of their best to share their knowledge and their experience with me.

I want to thank all of them and I hope, that our relationship will go on and soon we will meet in Georgia. We need your help!

Sincerely,
